

Customer Segmentation and Marketing Strategy Analysis: A Study on Credit Card Holders.

A banking entity hired me as a data scientist to determine which clients could have their credit card limit increased, offer bank loans among other benefits.

After obtaining the dataset from them, I must find that group of people and what are the characteristics that helped discover that group.

I did a PCA analysis and used k-means.